Introduction

For over sixty years, written words have played a central role in UNESCO's mission to strengthen human development in education, science, and culture. Indeed, "empowering people through the free flow of ideas by word and image" is a fundamental tenet of the Organization's Constitution. As the world grows into an ever-expanding Information Society, this commitment to educating through information exchange has also broadened. It has meant a new challenge for UNESCO; one where timely access to information becomes as much a consideration towards achieving progress as the information itself.

In order to keep up with this challenge in the Asia-Pacific region, the UNESCO Asia and Pacific Regional Bureau for Education/UNESCO Bangkok proudly releases the 2007 UNESCO Publications – Asia-Pacific Region catalogue. The catalogue offers a gateway to the many specialized resources that have been generated through a vast number of UNESCO programmes in the region. These programmes address a multitude of themes: universal education, cultural preservation, HIV/AIDS prevention, adolescent reproductive health, communications, science education, ethics, environmental protection, assessment/monitoring/evaluation analyses, and policy creation to name a few. UNESCO's publishing operations are an integral part of ensuring that lessons learned from this work are widely disseminated to strengthen future development projects.

Within Asia and the Pacific, publishing activities support work underway in the Organization's fourteen field offices, with the largest of these located within UNESCO Bangkok's Publication Services unit (PS/IKM). PS/IKM coordinates with the office's twelve working divisions to achieve quality standards through its vital editing, design and printing activities. Effective and efficient distribution of publications is another priority so that, once completed, materials can fulfill their important role of "informing to further the world's educational development."

Towards this aim, most of the publications included in the 2007 catalogue can be freely downloaded from the Internet. Web link addresses are provided within each document synopsis for this purpose, and represent field activities from Bangkok, Almaty, Islamabad, Jakarta, Kathmandu, New Delhi and Phnom Penh. A number of these offices also include local-language translations among their collection of resources. Such translations are often essential in bringing information to those who most depend upon it, and we welcome requests for reprints, adaptations and translations. Indeed, over the last year, we have worked with publishing partners in India, Albania and China to broaden access to UNESCO's publications.

As the 2007 publication catalogue goes to press, UNESCO is preparing to release the results of a two-year review of the Organization's global publishing operations. The resultant new policy measures will usher in a closer global collaboration of information-sharing and cost efficiency that emphasizes a synergistic approach to UNESCO's worldwide publishing activities. The Asia and Pacific Regional Bureau for Education is ready to collaborate in this endeavor, and will continue to support the production of quality publications that meet the needs of its constituents. We are further hopeful that with this broadened reach, publications from the Asia-Pacific region will be more widely utilized in other parts of the world.

The 2007 UNESCO Publications Asia-Pacific Region catalogue serves as an easy-to-use reference of the year's collection. However, UNESCO publishes new resources monthly. For up-to-date information about recent releases, readers should contact UNESCO Bangkok PS/IKM or consult the Bureau's website and those of the field offices.

Social audits are increasingly being recognized and used to claim rights and to secure accountability and transparency for development programming. This report analyzes the instrumental value of social audits in guiding programming from a human rights-based perspective. The resource describes different kinds of social audits, challenges to effective auditing, lessons learned from case studies, and suggestions for HRBA practitioners.

CLC Community Learning Centres: Overview and Country Experiences in Asia and the Pacific. Vol. 2

1 DVD

This DVD overviews community learning centre (CLC) projects, and introduces CLC programmes in nine of those countries: China, Indonesia, Japan, Kazakhstan, Nepal, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, and Viet Nam. The video documents the main activities underway in each country and includes interviews with government NFE officers, CLC workers and community members.

Promoting Mother Tongue-based Multilingual Education

1 DVD

Worldwide research has shown that minority language students enjoy greater success in school if they develop literacy skills in their mother tongue early in their education. Multilingual education is, thus, a powerful tool for education and social development that empowers students to achieve their full potential. Developed in collaboration with SIL International, this DVD provides an introduction to MLE programming and describes the steps for developing effective MLE projects.

Strengthening Community Learning Centres through Linkages and Networks: A Synthesis of Six Country Reports

6 pp. + 1 CD-ROM

ISBN: 92-9223-104-2

The experiences of community learning centres (CLCs) in Japan, China, Bangladesh, Thailand, the Philippines, and Indonesia are examined. The first part of this study identifies both the common features and the distinctive characteristics of CLCs. The main body of this study is the analysis of the six country reports. The concluding section synthesizes common elements that have led the CLCs to be successful.

Detailed country profiles and action plans are available on an enclosed CD.

Documenting Emerging Lessons Learned for Human Rights-Based Programming: An Asia-Pacific Perspective

16 pp.

ISBN: 92-9223-118-9 (Electronic Version)

The Asia-Pacific UN Inter-agency Lessons Learned Project (LLP) on the Human Rights-Based Approach (HRBA) to Development announces the release of its practice note. Targeted at HRBA practitioners, this note presents lessons in terms of the approaches used in claiming rights; the tools used in the process; and the role of targeted capacity-development strategies to effectively utilize such tools.

Advocacy Kit for Promoting Multilingual Education: Including the Excluded

5 booklets. Overview of the Kit (9 pp.); Language in Education Policy and Practice in Asia and the Pacific (7 pp.); Policy Makers Booklet (21 pp.); Programme Implementers Booklet (32 pp.); Community Members Booklet (22 pp.).

There is a serious lack of recognition and understanding of the role that bi/multilingual education can play in increasing enrolment, retention and achievement in the formal school system. This advocacy kit provides important insights into the value of mother tongue-based multilingual education. It also encourages readers to think about the importance of language issues and to investigate them further.

Mother Tongue-based Literacy Programmes: Case Studies of Good Practice in Asia

165 pp.

ISBN: 92-9223-113-8

www2.unescobkk.org/elib/publications/113/mother-tonque-based.pdf

In pursuit of its commitment to Education for All, UNESCO presents success stories from mother tongue-based literacy programmes in seven Asian countries. Part I provides a synthesis of the seven studies. Part II features a more detailed study of each of the projects.

Journey Towards Freedom

1 DVD

As the United Nations Literacy Decade 2003–2012 reaches its mid-point, this video examines its impact thus far. The adaptation and implementation of evidence-based effective practices as featured in this film, is a key pathway for success on many different fronts, including mother-child literacy and inter-generational learning, lifelong learning, literacy for health and literacy for economic self sufficiency.
